DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-5 are presented for examination.

Specification

2. Applicant is required to update the current status of all related applications (introductory paragraph of the Specification) with their patent numbers, if issued.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-5 recite the limitation "said scheduler" in line 9 of claim 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goldbland et al. (hereinafter Goldbland) (US 2001/0018673 A1) in view of Swaminathan et al. (hereinafter Swaminathan) (US 6,092,120).

5. As to claim 1, Goldbland teaches a framework for applications on an applications processor in communication with an algorithm processor, comprising:

- (a) a plurality of plugins for an application on an applications processor (Fig. 3);
- (b) a plurality of algorithm components on an algorithm processor (rules engine), each of said plugins corresponding to one or more algorithm component(s), and said algorithm processor in communication with said applications processor (Fig. 1, [0008]);
- (c) a component scheduler on said algorithm processor (Fig. 3, [0037]);
- (d) wherein said scheduler provides quality of service for said application with regard to said components by: (i) component scheduling in response to controls from said plugins relating to execution of said components and ([0030]) (ii) notification of events related to execution of said components sent to said plugins ([0035]).

Goldbland teaches communication of an application over a network to perform actions such as presenting an advertisement, send an upgrade notice, present a limited time offer, deliver marketing messages, etc (see Abstract). Goldbland fails to explicitly teach the application being real-time media. However, Swaminathan teaches timely delivery of real-time media communications such as audio and video streaming over a network (col. 1, lines 23-33, col. 4, lines 10-20). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the Swaminathan's feature of real-time media communications to Goldbland's communication system because this would enhance its advertisements, marketing messages, etc. by having audio/video streaming, for example (col. 1, lines 23-33, col. 4, lines 10-20).

6. As to claim 2, Goldbland teaches wherein:

(a) said controls include a set of data rate for one of said components (bandwidth) ([0037]).

7. As to claim 3, Swaminathan teaches wherein:

(a) said events include notice of failure of meeting a presentation time for one of said components (late loading error handling provides notification) (col. 13, lines 35-43).

8. As to claim 4, Swaminathan teaches:

(a) an applications processor scheduler to determine deadlines for a media stream that can be scheduled on said algorithm processor, and wherein said scheduler on said algorithm processor schedules a frame at a time of said media stream (col. 13, lines 35-43, col. 11, lines 54-62).

9. As to claim 5, Goldbland teaches:

(a) a plurality of second algorithm components on a second algorithm processor, with said second algorithm processor in communication with said applications processor and said algorithm processor and said plugins also relate to said second algorithm components (clients and adding agents) ([0038]).
